

ENGLM0037: Renaissance Literature: Text and Context scans (Ros Powell)

View Online

(1)

Houston, C. Introduction to New Worlds Reflected: Travel and Utopia in the Early Modern Period. In New worlds reflected: travel and utopia in the early modern period; Ashgate: Farnham, 2010; pp 1-14.

(2)

Newcastle, M. C.; Lilley, K. The Blazing World and Other Writings; Penguin Books: London, 1994; Vol. Penguin classics.

(3)

More, T.; Adams, R. M. Utopia, 2nd ed.; Norton: New York, 1992; Vol. A Norton critical edition.

(4)

More, T.; Neville, H.; Bacon, F. Section I (New Atlantis). In Utopia; Bruce, S., Ed.; Oxford University Press: Oxford, 1999; Vol. Oxford world's classics, pp 152-165.

(5)

More, T.; Neville, H.; Bacon, F. Section II (New Atlantis). In Utopia; Bruce, S., Ed.; Oxford University Press: Oxford, 1999; Vol. Oxford world's classics, pp 176-185.

(6)

Hooke, R. Micrographia: Or Some Physiological Descriptions of Minute Bodies Made by Magnifying Glasses; Martyn: London, 1665.

(7)

Trubowitz, R. The Reenchantment of Utopia and the Female Monarchical Self: Margaret Cavendish's Blazing World. Tulsa Studies in Women's Literature 1992, 11 (2).
<https://doi.org/10.2307/464299>.